Temple Report Adopted After a Heated Discussion-Bultimore May Be Next Meeting Place.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 21 .- To-day's session of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Katharine Lente Stevenson. Then followed the minutes of the executive committee which had not already been reported to the convention. The report included the appropriation of $4,000 for the national superintendents, the organizers and lecturers unions shall not be bound by the policy or laws of the national, except in regard to total abstinence and the constitutional rul-

A heated discussion then arose over the adoption of the temple report, in which a number of delegates participated. After an exciting debate the committee's report was finally unanimously adopted. The report first referred to the financial stringency of the past year, which had hurt the temple. In spite of this, however, the interest on the temple trust bonds were paid. The balance in hand at the beginning of the year was $621.90. The receipts of the year were $17,135.99. The expenditures of the year were $14,995.99. The cash balance is $574.97, and the notes receivable amount to $2,-187.13. The floating debt of $65,000 will prob-ably be reduced to $25,000 by Jan. 1, 1895. About $40,000 in leases were discontinued during the year, and the rent roll now amounts to $156,000. Pledges to the amount ver $60,000 have been received. Cleveland ladies whose efforts were instrumental in making the convention the success it was. A very pretty exercise and an eminently appropriate one followed. With a pleasant little address Mrs. Levinger, of Cleveland, presented to Mrs. Alice Harris, the national superintendent of music, a huge bouquet of very beautiful roses. Mrs. Harris responded feelingly and then sang "We'll Never Say Good-bye." The report of the resolutions committee was next presented and distributed through the audience. The report dwells at length on the following subjects: Young people's societies, Sabbath observation, W. T. P. A., equality of citizenship, equality in morals, amusements, alcoholic cures, the daily press, strikes, work among colored people, labor questions and prohibition. After a engthy discussion and the adoption of sevamendments the report was adopted.

B. Fessenden, of Massachusetts, then ffered a resolution denouncing lawlessness in any section of the country. Mrs. Hunt, of Massachusetts, introduced a resolution advocating instruction in the public schools in regard to the physical effects of intemperance. The first announcement of many which were made before adjournment was to the effect that Kansas City had invited the convention to meet there in 1895. In the afternoon the report of the resclution's committee was again taken up and new resolutions added. A long discussion on boys' brigades, and a somewhat heated one, was started by a resolution protesting against putting arms in the hands of boys. Other resolutions adopted deplored the Armenian atrocities, advocated international protection and denounced the increase of military education in public schools, col-leges and universities. One while raised much controversy thanked the lopulists for the suffrage plank in the platform in Kansas, thanked the Republicans for the same thing in Colorado and thanked the Democrats of the South for bringing a large area under local option laws. This resolution was adopted, but several others

Mrs. Snell, of Massachusetts, introduced two amendments conferring more power on department superintendents, which were lost. An amendment that was idopted ovided that biennial sessions should be seld when it was deemed advisable. The close of the convention was quite impressive. Miss Willard spoke briefly thanking the delegates for their kindness to her and telling them how strong and well she felt. Adjournment was moved by Mr. Forbes, of Connecticut, and the motion was carried. "God be with you till we meet again," and the doxology were sung. and Miss Carrie Smith pronounced the Immediately after adjournment, M'ss Willard was asked in what city the next convention would be held, she said: "It is not decided, but between you and me, it looks like Baltimore.' As a supplement to the convention the Cleveland Temperance Federation held a big latform meeting in Music Hall this even-Addresses were made by Helen M. Barker, of Chicago; Susan B. Anthony, Madame Chika Sakaral, of Japan; Mrs. lide Merriwether, of Tennessee; President C. F. Thwing, of Western Reserve University; Miss Frances F. Willard and Mrs. Clara Hoffman.

FATHER DUCEY REBELS.

He Asks Satolli for Liberty to Attend the Lexow Committee Meetings.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.-It is announced by the friends of Father Thomas J. Ducey, pastor of St. Leo's, that Father Ducey has appealed to Mgr. Satolli for liberty to attend the sessions of the Lexow committee, which Archbishop Corrigan has forbidden him to do. Father Ducey has confirmed the story of his being forbidden by the Archbishop, and the situation has become grave in view of the probability that Father Ducey will rebel against the Archbishop's order. It is also possible that both the Archbishop and Father Ducey will be summoned before the Lexow committee. Archbishop Corrigan, it is said, SHERIFF M'GARVER, OF MEMPHIS, SCORED BY GEN. PETERS.

Charged with Doing Everything Possible to Prevent Conviction of Lynchers of Six Negroes.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 21 .- To-day's proceedings in the murder trial of Smith and Richardson, charged with lynching six negroes, have been of a most sensational character. Sheriff A. J. McCarver, father of "Butch" McCarver, the infidel witness, was put on the stand this morning. He was asked by General Peters, for the State, how long he had known of his son's agnosticism before the latter had told it on the stand. Counsel for the defense objected and wanted to know the purpose of the question whereupon General Peters arose, and, addressing the court, but keenly eyeing the sheriff, who sat in the witness stand, delivered an arraignment of that official, the like of which was never heard in a Tennessee court before. He accused Sheriff McCarver of being in sympathy with the prisoners, of thwarting every effort of the State to secure a conviction. He accused him of suppressing from the grand jury his son's knowledge of facts pertaining to the lynching; of providing the accused every facility for defense by driving them over the country, and by going to their homes and placing the prisoners in communication with characters whose services might be useful on the trial. He accused the sheriff of such conduct in the summoning of men for jury service as made it impossible for the State to secure a fair panel to try the case, and the lawyer concluded by charging directly that the sheriff had used his office to assist the defendants in cheating the law and had counived at his son's treachery and perno in evading his duty as a witness. The sheriff listened to this arra.gnment speechless and open-mouthed and slunk out of the court room after it was over. Counsel then argued the question of the admis-sibility of "Butch" McCarver's evidence, but Judge Cooper decided to force him to testify, on the ground that he is not sincere in stating he was an infidel. "Butch" McCarver was placed on the stand, and the remainder of the day was consumed by the State's effort to induce this reluctant witness to tell what he knows as he told it before the grand jury. McCarver's efforts were directed towards clearing Richardson from complicity in the crime. He related how, a few days before the killing, he had been invited by Smith and Sisley to take part in the kill-ing. Smith told him then, he says, that Richardson was employed to make the arrests, and that they wanted McCarver to help Richardson at that part of the work. It was McCarver's effort to intimate that Richardson was to make the arrests in good faith. McCarver was then to have gone to Smith's residence, near Kenville, on the morning before the killing. A body of men was to meet Richardson that night, overpower him and kill his captive negroes. All these facts were learned from McCarver with the greatest difficulty, and many other statements of material character that he made to the grand jury he would not repeat to-day, saying he had forgotten. A mass meeting of citizens has been called to de-mand the removal of Sheriff McCarver.

RUMOR THAT THE LION AND BEAR ARE NOW GOOD FRIENDS.

Straits of the Dardanelles to Be Opened to the Czar's Ships-Scenes Attending Franch's Death.

LONDON, Nov. 21.-The St. James Gazette this afternoon gives prominence to an article in which it says it is rumored that a rapprochement has taken place between Russia and England and that it is possible the Straits of the Dardanelles, which has been closed to Russian and other men-of-war since the signing of the treaty of 1841, which was confirmed by the Paris treaty of 1856, will shortly be opened to men-of-war of all nations. According to the Gazette this matter is the talk in the diplomatic circles of several of the capitals of Europe; in fact, little else is talked about now. The Gazette points out that the opening of the Dardanelles to foreign war ships would have a disastrous effect upon England; that it would necessitate a great increase in the British Mediterranean

It would seem there is some basis for the report that the Dardanelles are to be opened to the passing of Russian and other men-of-war, for a dispatch from Odessa to the London Times says that a number of troops from the military district of Odessa. have been ordered to proceed to Vladivostock and from the Russian war port to the northeast of Corea. It was asserted that these reinforcements are dispatched to the East entirely on account of the war with China and Japan. It should be added, however, that this is not the first time that vessels of the Russian volunteer fleet have passed through the Dardanelles on their way to Vladivostock.

HOW FRANCH DIED.

Sang an Anarchist Hymn as the Garrote Was Applied. BARCELONA, Spain, Nov. 21 .- Jose Salvador Franch, one of the most desperate of all Anarchists, the man who threw the dynamite bomb at the Liceo Theater, this and wounding hity others, was executed this morning by the garrote. Franch displayed the utmost bravado, shouted "Down with religion," and died almost with the words of an Anarchist song on his lips. Franch, who spent the last twenty-four hours of his life in the black draped chapel of the prison, according to the Spanish custom, only slept about an hour during the night. The wife and little daughter of the condemned man, contrary to general expectation, were admitted to see him in the chapel, but their tenderness and sympathy were utterly thrown away upon the Anarchist; he remained obdurate to the ministrations of the priests who kept him company in the chapel. He scoffed at their supplications to prepare himself for death and laughed derisively at their references to a future life. The Anarchist's wife made a last effort to soften his heart, but he roughly told her to go away, and she tearfully withdrew, after kissing him. After his wife had left the chapel, Franch continued to treat the priests with contempt, saying among other things: "I weapon which I have shown Anarchists how to use. At 8 a. in. the judge, with the court clerks and other officials entered the chapel and told Franch to prepare for death. The advent of these officials was soon followed by the appearance of the executioners who, as they began to dress the prisoner for the scaffold, were continu-ally insulted by the desperate man. Franch shrieked: "Do your miserable work. You are only the tools of the bourgeoisie." The procession to the place of execution was then formed. Franch was surrounded by soldiers and was accompanied by numbers of members of the society known as the "Brothers of the Good Death." Franch walked trembling to the scaffold, was erected in the large court yard of the prison. A number of spectators were adnitted to this enclosure and large numbers of troops were present in order to keep the spectators at a proper distance from the scaffold. A double line of soldiers and mounted gendarmes performed this duty. As the Anarchist mounted the steps leading to the platform upon which was the garrote he shouted: "Down with all re-ligions! Vive l'anarchie!" The executioners selzed him and as he struggled and cried they forced him into the chair at the back which was the garrote. Franch was then strapped down to the seat and as this work was being performed he renewed his Anarchist cries and tried to sing an Anarchist cries and tried to sing an Anarchist hymn. But his false courage was evidently fast going for he stopped in the midst of his death song to implore his executioners to hurry their final preparations for death. The trembling prisoner's neck was then encircled by the fatal collar, the screw was swiftly applied and death was almost instaneous. The whole affair reflected great credit upon the executioners for only about a minute and a half elapsed from the time Franch mounted the platmilitary band which was in attendance then played and the executioners moved away from the platform. The body of Franch, with the collar of the garrote around his neck, remained exposed until sundown. It was viewed by large crowds of people, for the inhabitants of Barcelona and its neighborhood flocked to the prison from all parts in order to who, a little more than a year ago, caused such a sensation in this city, and who threw so many families into mourning. At sundown the society of the Brothers of the Good Death took possession of the body and conveyed it to the cemetery, beg-ging money along the route in order to raise funds with which to have masses said for the repose of the soul of the An-Jose Salvador Franch was about thirtytwo years of age, a native of Castelsaras, province of Ternal. He was tall, of fair complexion, and came of a respectable family, but his personal antecedents were bad. At the age of fourteen he left home and came to Barcelona, where he did no regular work and gave himself up to the plots and designs of the Anarchists, among whom he speedily became a leader. Twice after his capture he attempted suicide, once by shooting himself and again by

IN CENTRAL AMERICA.

Affairs in Three Republics in a Critical Condition. GUATEMALA, Nov. 20 .- The projected Central American union has fallen through now, as before, when attempted, and even Reyna Barryos, who was most anxious to carry out this scheme to satisfy his personal ambition, considers the union impossible to be carried out. The state of affairs in Nicaragua, Honduras and Salvador is most critical just now. In Nicaragua discontent is most general and becomes more so by the exile of General Ortiz, who arrived here a few days ago, and everybody predicts the early breaking out of a revolution against President Zelaya. Honduras has just adopted a new constitution and Bonilla has had himself elected president and his brother vice president, but the presence of ex-President Vasquez, in Costa Rica, is considered a standing menace to Bonilla, who is surrounded with nemies who are plotting his overthrow. San Salvador is about to pass through an electoral crisis and the greatest discord exists among the leaders of the existing gov-ernment there. Costa Rica continues a policy which does not permit her to mix into the affairs of her neighbors, and notwithstanding the attempt to assassinate the President, Costa Rica may be said to have the only government which is stable, and that only to a certain degree. It is reported at Colon that the Nicaraguan authorities are prohibiting the

How Rubinstein Died. ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 21 .- The death of Rubinstein, the celebrated pianist and composer, which occurred on Tuesday morning at Peterhof, was unexpected. He was playing eards until 11 o'clock, and was in the best of spirits. His wife, at about midnight, went to his room to bid hi goodnight. Rubenstein then appeared to be enjoying his usual good health. At about 2 o'clock in the morning Mme. Rubinstein heard cries from the direction of her husband's bedroom, and, running to his door, she found him standing up near the entrance with a bed cover around his shoulders. He was crying with pain and gasping: "A doctor, a doctor. I am choking." .Two physicians were hastily summoned, but

Cannot Prosecute Kossuth. LONDON, Nov. 22 .- A Vienna dispatch to the Times says that in the Hungarian

Chamber, Wednesday, the government was interpellated as to its allowing Franz Kossuth to travel in Hungary, to insult the Emperor-King, and to attack the Hungarian Constitution. The questioner was against Kossuth's being allowed to do these things. The Minister of the Interior, replying to the interpellation, said that it was impossible to prosecute Kossuth because he was traveling in Hungary and because of his attacks upon the Constitution, for the reason that the steps that he has already taken to secure naturalization point out that he intends to complete them. In regard to his alleged insults of the Emperor-King, the Minister added that an official inquiry is afoot.

Beseeched to Wed at Once. LONDON, Nov. 22 .- A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Daily News says it is stated that Czar Alexander left a document to be opened nine days after his death. When the document was opened it was found to contain an entreaty to Czar Nicholas to marry Princess Alix directly after the funeral. Hence the wedding has been fixed to take place on Monday. It is reported that the Czar was disappointed by the apparent coolness of the residents of St. Petersburg. When he discovered the reason he reprimanded the chief of police for ordering windows to be closed and balconies and roofs not to be occu-pied on the day Czar Alexander's body arrived in the city and on the day of the

How a Priest Escaped.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Cairo says that Father Rossignoli, the last of the priests who were captured by the Mahdists after the fall of El Obeid, and whose escape from Omdurman, in the Soudan, and arrival at Assouan, was reported yesterday, escaped by feigning sickness. He was allowed to go to Khartoum for a change of air, from which place he fled to Berber, where his guide was imprisoned on suspicion of harboring a Christian. Father Rossignoli bribed the failer, and both he and his guide escaped from Berber and reached Assouan after a perilous journey. Father Rossignoli is in feeble health. He states that anarchy reigns in the Soudan.

Relief for Earthquake Sufferers. ROME, Nov. 21.-Relief funds for the earthquake sufferers have been opened throughout Italy and the military commanders in the afflicted districts have been ordered to give every assistance to the sufferers by providing them with tents, bread, etc. To-day an earthquake shock was felt in Calabria, Catania and the Island of Lipari, in addition to being felt at Messina, Sicily. At the latter place a religious procession marched through the streets, headed by Cardinal Guisseppe Guarino, Archbishop of Messina, offering up orayers for the safety of the inhabitants. The cathedral was closed in order to avoid a disaster in the event of renewed earthquake shocks.

Praise for Bayard. LONDON, Nov. 21.-In a leader on the speech delivered at Southampton yesterday by Embassador Bayard to those who welcomed him on his return to England, the Daily News says: "It is not in human nature to dispute the kind and flattering expressions he used. A high-minded, generous envoy is a better guarantee of the fel-lowship of nations than a dozen treaties. We have been singularly fortunate in American embassadors. Mr. Bayard is a worthy successor of Messrs. Lincoln, Phelps and Lowell."

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 .- The Western League baseball managers, at the meeting to-day, formally admitted St. Paul to the organization. Sloux City's franchise expiring at noon. Work on the schedule for next year was begun. The schedule, as proposed, provides for two trips east for the Western clubs and two trips West for the Eastern clubs, instead of three, as last year. One hundred and twelve games will be played by each club during the season. The schedule was left to a committee consisting of D. A. Long, of Toledo; John S. Barnes, of Minneapolis, and Charles Comiskey, of St. Paul, to report at a meeting to be held at Milwaukee March 26. The old salary limit $1,800 a month for each clab was re-adopted.

Barnie Willing to Arbitrate. NEW YORK, Nov. 21.-William Barnie has addressed the following letter to President N. E. Young, of the National Baseball League, in reference to the recent action of the national board:

"Dear Sir: In answer to the published announcement by the national board of my suspension by that board for several of-fenses, alleged by them to have been com-mitted by me, I have this to say. Not being under contract to any national agreement club, though a stockholder in two league clubs, I decline to acknowledge the jurisdiction of the national board. I must also decline to submit to any trial by a self-constituted governing body, all of whose members have a direct financial interest in baseball, and whose organization is synonymous with and exclusively con-trolled by the National League, a body which has already passed judgment and execution upon me without permitting me to exercise any right to disprove the allega-tions they set forth, thus plainly showing the animus in the case. I, however, emphat-ically deny having done anything whatever to the detriment of the national game. But in order to make this perfectly clear, and in the interest of good repute in baseball, which I have ever tried to protect and foster, I will submit the allegations made against me by your board to arbitration and final judgment by a committe comed of Mr. W. S. Kames, the bres the American Association, and Mr. N. E. Young, the president of the National League, and a third disinterested party, to be chosen by the two named arbitrators."

Buckenberger Will Not Oppose. PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 21.-A. C. Buckenberger, who has been blacklisted by the National League, said this evening: "I have decided not to take any account of the action of the National League in suspending me, nor of its threat to blacklist me. I was, put out of the National League's power the moment I was released by Pittsburg. I shall not appear before its board nor shall any affidavit be sent it. It is not to be supposed that the committee will ask us to appear before it, and even should it do so I for one should refuse to do so."

Papers Read Before the Mississippi Valley Medical Association.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 21.-The Mississippi Valley Medical Association convened this morning and the delegates got down to work. The report of the treasurer, Dr. George J. Cook, of Indianapolis, was read, after which Dr. J. M. Ball, of St. Louis, extended an invitation to the convention to attend the meeting of the Missouri, Illinois and Iowa tri-State medical convention which meets in St. Louis the first Tuesday in April, 1895. The first paper read in the morning was "Intestinal Indigestion," by Dr. A. P. Buchman, of Fort Wayne, Ind. A committee on president's address was then announced and Dr. A. M. Owen, chairman of the committee on credentials, read its report, after which the last paper read was discussed at considerable length. Other papers were read as follows: By Dr. J. E. Woodbridge, of Youngstown, O., "Typhoid Fever Can be Aborted; Another Year's Work with No Death and No Failure in Evidence;" by Dr. A. B. Walker, of Canton, O., "The Importance of Urinalysis in Diagnosis;" by Dr. A. M. Owen, of Evansville, Ind., "My Experience with Gold as a Therapeutic At the afternoon session the nominating committee was announced. Dr. Sterling R. STREET-CAR COLLISION.

Five People Injured, One Probably Fatally, at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 21.-In a collision be tween an electric and cable car on Wylle avenue at 10:30 this morning, five people were injured, one of wnom may die. The injured are: Mrs. C. H. Jones, head cut and bruised, dangerously hurt; Gripman Harvey Rea, badly cut about the head and arms; Michael Kombault, Miss Brown and an unknown lady. The electric car was scending the steep grade on Wylie ave nue followed by the cable car on the same track. On reaching Fulton street the electrio car stopped, but the brakes refused to work, and it began sliding backward. Gripman Rea on the cable car took in the sit-uation and released his brake, allowing his car to slide back as fast as he dare, in order to break the shock which was threatened. Soon the electric car became entirely unmanageable and gained speed. The pas sengers of both cars were panic-stricken and several leaped from the platform before collision occurred. Women fainted and the excitement was intense. At Logan street the cars came together with great force, derailing both and wrecking the colliding ends. Mrs. Jones was thrown against the stove in the cable car so violently that she was picked up unconscious, and it is feared that she will not survive.

FARMER JONES FLEECED.

An Old Trick Worked to the Extent of $7,000 on an Ohio "Hayseed."

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio, Nov. 21.-William Iones, a farmer near Bourneville, Ross county, was showing a stranger who gave the name of William Smith his farm, which Smith wanted to buy. In their rounds they met "Tom" Jones, of Tennessee, whom Smith knew. Smith and "Tom" Jones got to boasting of their ready money. Jones, of Tennessee, bet $14,000 he could show more money to-morrow than Smith, and he put up the money. Smith had only $7,000, and he asked farmer Jones to lend him $7,000 till to-morrow. The farmer complied and the $28,000 was locked in a tin box before his eyes and put in his keeping. The next day he broke the box open and found only blank paper in it. The bunco men were

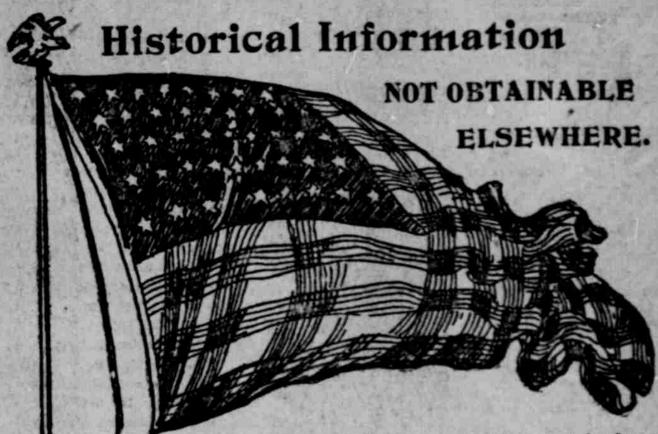

Explorer Holub at New York. NEW YORK, Nov. 21.-Among the passengers arriving to-day by the steamer Rhaeta, from Hamburg, was Dr. Emil Holub, the African explorer. He is accom-panied by his wife. Dr. Holub has been invited by the American Geographical Society to go to Washington and deliver a series of lectures on his travels in Africa. He made two extensive journeys into Africa the last one occupying no less than seven years. He is probably the only European who explored that portion of the country starting from south Africa and going through the heart of the continent to equatorial Africa. He made an enormous collection of yayuna and flora during his travels, the greater portion of which he has donated to different European cities. He intends donating a large part of his collec-tica to the Smithsonian Institution at

GOLD AT A PREMIUM.

$50,000 Sold in New York at One-Eighth of One Per Cent. Advance.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 .- The general interest in the bond issue and the possible purchasers started a number of rumors to-day that gold was at a premium already, and that there was no knowing where it would go to. In fact, Nesslage, Colgate & Co., dealers in money, did sell an order of $50,000 in gold at one-eighth of 1 per cent. advance, but they did not consider it worth calling a premium. Other dealers in money said that inquiries had been made for gold by several customers, but no prices had been quoted. They declared, however, that they were willing to furnish gold to a moderate

RETOLD BY FITZSIMMONS. Another Story of the Fatal Bout with amount at one-half of 1 per cent.

Pugilist Riordan. NEW YORK, Nov. 21 .- The World publishes a letter from Robert Fitzsimmons, dated at Boston, giving an account of the manner in which Riordan met his death, "In the first place, I did not strike him with my right-arm blow, which is said to be such a terrible blow. When the time came for me to go on the stage that night I noticed that Riordan had been drinking, but he seemed to be able to take care himself. Captain Glori introduced us, an we shook hands and went to work. I hustled him across the stage, feinting with ne hand and then the other, but not buching him. He made a pass at me and jumped back. Then I closed with him and touched him lightly with my left. The on his chest. It was a very light indeed. He reached for me with his right and left, which I avoided by jumping back. That was after I had touched him. That is positive proof that it was not my blow that knocked him out, for a man does not feel much like leading twice for me after I have landed a knock-out blow. After he had led for me I was first going to close in with him again, when I saw him scowl and press his hands to his chest, at the same time doubling over as if in pain. He turned his head toward Ceptain Glori and said: 'Call time.' I put my hands down in disgust, for I knew he was 'faking.' Then up his hands, when his legs began to woh he straightened up again and was putting and he sat down on the stage and then fell over backwards. He looked up at me and smiled. The spectators began to hiss and yell 'Fake.' I was very much disgusted, and picked him up and carried him into the wings. I thought he was fooling all the time for I knew I had not hit him hard enough to hurt a flea. I sat him upon a chair and went again upon the stage and had a round with Dunfee. "While I was sparring the property boy began to take off Riordan's gloves, but hoved him away, saying: 'Don't take them off. I've got to go on again. Any way, I'm no more good for this business." While I was sparring my second round with Dunfee Riordan fell off the chair and be-gan to froth at the mouth. He died five hours later. He died from apoplexy. Truly, I can say that I was not in the slightest degree responsible for his death. I touched him but once, and that lightly with the back of my left hand. I did not punch him at all, and surely did not strike him with my right hand. I feinted with it once, intending to draw him out and cross-counter, but I did not strike him. That is the true story of what occurred that night. Since Riordan's death we have learned that he was drinking at the bar ten minutes before he went on the stage. Then he went to the theater, and was vomiting just before we were called. I did not know that at the time. He complained of pains in his heart that afternoon, and when he went on the stage his face had a bluish tinge. It was either heart disease or apo-plexy that caused his death."

A Chicago Suicide.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.-The suicide of M. 3. Linsley, the salesman of Hyman, Berg Co., jewelers, is surrounded in mystery. Linsley, who came from New Haven, Conn. was prominent in social circles and commanded a large salary. A story of a $30, 000 robbery from Hyman, Berg & Co. was circulated in connection with the suicide but the firm's members emphatically deny that any robbery had occurred. They de-clare that Linsley's accounts are straight Judge McBride Discusses This Topic at Science Club.

Judge McBride discussed the question "What Causes the Humming of Telegraph and Telephone Wires?" before the Science Club last night. It is an old question which was asked several years ago by a Popular Science paper, and has been discussed in this city before. Judge McBride maintained that the noise was not caused by the wind, as is commonly supposed, but did not give any lucid explanation of the phenomenon. His observations have been that on clear frosty nights when there is no wind the noise is the greatest, and on that bases his belief that the wind has nothing to do
